Buying Babies

“My mother-in-law’s home is in Shandong where the sale of children is rampant. She bought a baby girl as her daughter, and then spent RMB80,000 for a grandson when she was 70. The grandson is ten years old now. Besides, the niece of my mother-in-law, though she believes in the Lord, also encourages her to buy a child to replace her own grandkid who is a disable with cerebellar palsy. Her girl can no longer bear children, and her disabled grandchild is abandoned in the mountains. We disagreed with mother-in-law about buying a grandchild. Being a mother myself, I deeply resent the acts of abduction and trading of children. When there is no demand, there is no supply. My mother-in-law had two sons, one died of cancer and the other died in an accident. For my father-in-law, he is now suffering from bladder cancer. Seeing the fragmented family of my idolatrous mother-in-law, I become speechless.”

(An audience “Emmanuel”)

⌘ The Lord of all livings, please put an end to such illegal human trafficking and take these human traders to justice. Ask government to face up to the seriousness of the problem, strengthen their supervision, and harshly punish and subdue these criminals.

Care for the Old

There may be only a small amount of special families consisting of aged parents and children with disabilities, yet we shall take heed to their demands. Gongshu in Hangzhou has launched the “Health Ageing” policy for parents aged 85 or above who have difficulties in taking care of their children with severe disabilities. They may choose to live in the integrated elderly care homes which also provide services for persons with disabilities. At present, there are 12 such organizations providing accommodation for these families. Fees are charged for the required services with deductions based on age, pension and difficulty level of the couples. The policy will be supported by government subsidies.

⌘ Pray for the underprivileged groups that they can have the chance to know God and experience the love of God and find real hope. May God help people recognize the needs of others and lend them a hand.

My Whole World Collapses

“I had been repeatedly irritated by my manager and loaded with work, giving me severe headaches. I got back to work after resting for 20 days at home. I feel so upset at work and ask my mother to pick me up and take me home every time when I cannot stand the suffering. My mother has been already overwhelmed with housework and child care. My manager asked me to quit as I couldn’t work normally. However I will be ineligible to get my bonus if I quit. The bonus should have been paid to me long ago. The manager forced us to quit to pocket our bonuses. My husband forces me to help him out in his shop. I feel so unwell and am unable to help. He wants a divorce for that. I just collapse again. There is also the everyday homework battle with my child. I’m really fed up.”

(Sister Mei)

⌘ May God take care of Sister Mei and give her strength to face her work, marriage, child and emotions. May God help her hold on to You in the tough times.

Kham Christians

The majority of the Kham people in Tibet are Buddhists, yet some practice the Tibetan Bön religion that accepts polytheism. In the 19th century, Catholic missionaries preached to Kham people. Christian missionary work among Kham people started in 1987 involving mainly hospitals, schools and orphanages yet achieving little success. Thank God for leading His servants who were hard working and dedicated to their work. We have been told that some senior Kham monks have repent and become Christians and are committed to preaching to their compatriots despite of tremendous pressure and oppression. To serve God, we all turn to God to seek His will. We hope to explore some audio ministry as a supplementary preaching tool so as to help the Kham Christians lead more Tibetans to God.

⌘ Pray that God will unite and lead the Kham Christians to get through the hard time and overcome the obstacles. Pray that they can prepare the Gospel presentation in their language to reach the unreached Kham Tibetans.

A Dangerous Lover

“My son walked away from God when he was a junior secondary student. At that time, he couldn’t advance his faith and find help through Bible teaching. Keep struggling, he still had faith in God during the pandemic in Spring. Now he is running a business in an improper place and has only earned little money. A father of a seven-year-old daughter and being an introvert, he will not have a future without God. His wife now is his girlfriend. She left home after their daughter was born, and got divorced complaining of her poor husband. This woman is so dangerous and has bewildered my son. She always scolds and loves money. They have repeatedly broken up and got back again. My son doesn’t listen to me and is unable to distinguish right from wrong. Hope that he can be chosen by God and experience a personal relationship with God to make him an able and wise person.”

(Sister Lao)

⌘ May God give wisdom to Sister Lao’s son to handle his marriage, and help him understand that only God’s love lasts forever. Hope that he is willing to know God more and can find support and hope in God to give him strength to take care of his daughter and live strong.

PRAYER NEWSLETTER

NOV/DEC 2022

Dear Warriors in Christ,

Have you ever heard about the story “The Power of Prayer”?

A woman in ragged clothes went into a store and wanted some food for her seven children as her husband was sick and unable to work. She humbly asked for credit and defer payment. The store owner refused and told her to leave. The woman begged the owner for help but the owner insisted and refused.

A customer heard their conversation, and told the owner that he was willing to pay for the woman’s food. The owner then asked reluctantly the woman if she had a shopping list. The woman said yes! The owner told the woman to put the shopping list on the scale and said that the food of same weight as her list would be given to her. Then the woman took out a piece of paper with words written on it from her purse and put it on one of the pans. The owner and the customer were amazed by what they saw. The pan holding the paper kept going down to the bottom. The owner had to keep adding food onto the other pan. The two pans were not balanced against each other until the food overthrew. The woman said thank you and left. The owner picked up the paper and found that it was not a shopping list but a piece of paper written with “Dear Jesus, You know my needs. I leave all my needs in Your hands.”

Praying for our compatriots is very important. Many church gatherings have been prohibited under the covid-19 “zero infection” policy. Churches can only organize group gatherings, family and online meetings. I know that even online worship services are not easy now. We are very worried yet we need to pray together to experience the power of prayer.

What Should I Do

"I got married two years ago and still couldn't get pregnant. Advised by the host of your radio program, I consulted a Chinese medicine practitioner and got pregnant in March. I pray for the health of my child every day as I'm so vulnerable. Now I'm 17 weeks pregnant and have been tested and identified having a risk of having a baby with Down syndrome. The doctor advised me to do a noninvasive examination. I'm very worried. What should I do? I pray earnestly every day. Why doesn't God give me a healthy child? My husband and I cannot accept a child like Nick Vujcic. Please give me some advice."

(Sister Huan)

⌘ God You gives us life. May You help Sister Huan and her husband put their faith in You when they are going through tough times. Help them find strength in You and give them a loving child by Your grace.

Desperate for Jobs

The latest data released by the Ministry of Education shows that the number of applicants for teacher qualification exams has jumped from 172,000 in 2011 to 11.442 million in 2021, a 66-fold increase in ten years. In recent years, more comprehensive universities have offered education-related majors, including Peking University, Nanjing University, and Shanghai Jiaotong University. Although the statistics represents the importance that society regards education, some teaching graduates from ordinary training institutes said that even if they can obtain the teaching qualifications, there is still fierce competition for jobs. In fact, as the entry threshold for certain teachers has been constantly increasing, it is not surprising that they must compete with doctoral or master's degree holders from prestigious universities.

("Yangtze Evening News", October 10, 2022)

⌘ Education should focus on its quality, not just quantity. May God allow interested keen people to become teachers as they so wish, teaching and cultivating students with good character. May the school's curricula in various subjects be continuously improved and developed to meet the needs of students.

Monday

Ask God for Healing

"My mother and I went to the hospital for a check-up a few days ago. The doctor said that she might have cancer, so my father and I took her to the cancer hospital for another check-up. Result pending. My father and I are very worried. We even wake up down and tired every morning. We truly hope that it is not cancer, and my mother will get well very soon. I know that I don't love the Lord enough, so I ask Him to forgive me and to save my mother. I have been listening to radio programs for many years, from Monday to Friday. These programs have helped me a lot. But for a long time, my mother hasn't attended church meetings or read the Bible. God, save my mother! Please don't give up on her. Please pray for her health!"

(Sister Guan)

⌘ The Lord who gives peace, puts the mother of Sister Guan in His hand, and makes her realize that He is the Lord of her life. Return to the Lord to enjoy the peace and joy of being with Him, so that they may experience the protection and healing of the Lord.

Play to Heal

Medicine and gaming seem to be at odds, but "electronic drugs" combines the two and has put this into practice. Some domestic game developers have developed and launched auxiliary training games for people with mental disorders, simulating scenes such as supermarket shopping, taking elevators, and going into and out of the bathroom, so that autistic children can practice coping with social anxiety. Another game developer partnered with the hospital to launch a feature game for the rehabilitation of strabismus and amblyopia. It incorporates a variety of light stimulation therapies such as raster, red light stimulation, and fine vision. Coupled with rich and interesting game elements, it attracts young children to actively participate in treatment

("Wen Wei Po", October 10, 2022)

⌘ There are many diseases in the world that are difficult to cure. May God bless researchers with more wisdom to help relieve the suffering of patients. Pray that the Lord will take charge of the production and sales of drugs; everything is people-oriented and will not be fraudulent for profit.

Tuesday

Dizzy Brain

"I have been in a bad mood recently. The church sisters knew that I was unwell, so they often came to visit and help me. Once a sister spoke of her testimony and about her previous hard feelings. I was afraid to be like her. Such concern haunted me since then and I became unbearably anxious. My brain was unease and dizzy. My heart kept beating so fast, and my blood pressure rose to over 160. I'm worried that her experience will happen to me. Being so depressed and painful, I cannot stay at home but had to get away. I wonder if there are Christian institutions that take in and help me. God has always been gracious to me, so I trust that I will be fully healed."

(An audience "Baffled")

⌘ Ask the Lord of reassurance to help Sister "Baffled" to live a victorious Christian life. With the strength from the Lord, she can overcome her weakness and temptation.

Thirst Quenching Project

In order to solve the problem of regional water resource shortages, the water conservancy project has obtained a water intake permit from the Yellow River Water Conservancy Commission. Water will be diverted from the Yellow River into Qinghai Province. After completion, it is expected that the water transfer can reach hundreds of millions of cubic meters, which can effectively alleviate the water shortage issue for the industrial development and ecological civilization construction in the eastern cities of Qinghai Province. Besides, the Ministry of Ecology and Environment has also published relevant reports, proposing that at this stage, it is necessary to study and propose various ecological and environmental protection measures in accordance with the scale of water diversion, the process of water diversion, and the configuration plan, etc., to reduce and control the adverse effects of engineering construction on the ecological environment.

("China News Net", October 9, 2022)

⌘ It is to be hoped that the Government will find a long-term way to effectively use water resources and provide sufficient supplies for all. Pray that the people can be more proactive and persevere in saving water in daily life.

Wednesday

Knowing God through Radio

"Before listening to Radio Liangyou, I just heard of some heresy from other people. Out of ignorance, I believed in what they said. I listened to Radio Liangyou in 1994 and found that what I had heard before was wrong. I kept listening to Radio Liangyou, and I also told my friends about radio programs. But they didn't try. I learned about the truth of God's power through Radio Liangyou, and I have never been among them since. For decades, I listened to the radio alone. Later, a teacher invited those who were moved and willing to accept the Lord Jesus as their Savior to pray together. So, I prayed. My son listened to it when he was a child. At that time, my husband prohibited me from listening. He beat me. Seeing that I was beaten many times, my son, without any support, stopped listening to Liangyou in the end. In fact, there have been constant attacks in my spiritual life."

(Sister Wang)

⌘ Pray that a church and help will be prepared for her to cheer her with support, encouragement, and peace. May her family be chosen also to share the Lord's grace and experience the Lord's redemption.

"Diamond" for "Star"

People in China would go online when they need to book hotels. But sometimes they found the hotel environment far below their expectation while they checked in. And when they wanted to defend their rights did they realize that they were not booking a star-rated hotel. To attract more customers, some travel platforms use "Five Diamond Hotel" or "Golden Diamond Hotel" instead for the non-five-star hotels. The so-called "five diamonds" are however not equivalent to the "stars" that consumers generally know of. This kind of linguistic camouflage is used to confuse others and travel platforms with such practice is suspicious of making false propaganda for misleading consumption.

("Zhengzhou Daily", October 10, 2022)

⌘ Pray that the government legislate and regulate to prevent the use of false or misleading sales practices. Merchants also know how to be self-disciplined and will not be blinded by money. They may understand that only by protecting the rights and interests of consumers can they build consumer trust.
