Gentle Testimony

"In my early days of faith, I was very passionate about sharing the Gospel. Although I lacked formal education, I simply shared how hopeless my life was before believing in Christ, and how my life was completely transformed after encountering Him. In the past, whenever my neighbors encroached on my family's land, we would end up in heated arguments. After coming to faith, I stopped arguing and instead reminded them with a gentle tone; our relationship improved significantly. My parents-in-law had three sons, but none of them were willing to support them. Following God's command, I took them into my home and cared for them. After my father-in-law passed away, I continued to care for my mother-in-law, which quietly influenced her sons. Now, they are also very filial towards their mother."

(Brother Wu)

⌘ May God kindle Brother Wu's passion for sharing the gospel and give him wisdom as he witnesses for Christ. May God strengthen him to honor and care for his family faithfully, bringing reconciliation and harmony to family relationships.

In-Home Pet Sitting

During holiday seasons, many people head off on trips or visit family, leaving their pets behind. Aside from traditional boarding facilities, more pet owners are choosing in-home pet sitting services. However, some users have reported issues like poor care, lost pets, or even missing belongings. Most people find these sitters on social media without formal contracts, relying only on verbal agreements. Experts strongly advise signing a formal contract or written agreement—regardless of where you find the service—to clearly define responsibilities and protect both sides.

("CNR-1 The Voice of China", October 3, 2026)

⌘ May authorities establish clear industry standards, service requirements, and dispute resolution channels to protect both pet owners and sitters. May service providers work with integrity so pet owners can travel with peace of mind.

Light of Life

"A medical error left me with a severe skin condition. During those painful days, listening to Radio Liangyou was my biggest source of comfort. The physical torment felt like walking through the valley of the death, but the Gospel programs brought a light into my life. Though He didn't heal my body, He used Radio Liangyou to transform my inner life. For over ten years, the station has walked with me as I grew spiritually, and I even completed all the courses at the Liangyou Theological Seminary. I'm so grateful to have such a faithful mentor and friend. Even though I listen on my phone now, I still fondly remember the days of tuning in on the radio."

(Sister Zhao)

⌘ May God comfort Sister Zhao and give her lasting hope through her skin condition. Let Radio Liangyou continue to be a light and strength for her soul. Keep her eager to learn and grow, bringing health and peace to her body, mind, and spirit.

Triumphing Over the Enemy

A Khampa believer shared his testimony: He was born into a family associated with evil spirits. From a young age, he suffered from a foot ailment, and due to improper medical care, his condition worsened over the years. Fortunately, a Christian doctor helped cure his chronic disease. After coming to Christ, he was rejected by his family and condemned by his villagers, yet he remained steadfast in the Lord and dedicated himself to serving Him. Later, he married and had children, but his children have intellectual disabilities; his villagers believe that he had offended the spirits. After many hardships, as his young children's condition gradually improved, he discovered that his son was being tormented by evil spirits. This revealed that Satan was unwilling to let him follow Christ and continually sought to tear him down.

⌘ As the forces of Satan rage—captivating hearts and seeking to destroy the faith of Tibetan believers—pray that the Lord protects His children and grants them victory in this spiritual warfare. Grant them healing grace, and triumph over all opposing powers.

Weathering the Storm

"My middle school daughter was diagnosed with depression, which came as a bolt from the blue for our family. After taking leave from school, she was hospitalized and discharged four times, and was later readmitted due to emotional instability. She has now been out of the hospital for over three months, but her mood has been worsening recently. Every day she asks for money. She often has negative thoughts, binge eating, and purging. I feel powerless and blame God: since He possesses all power and authority, why won't He heal my daughter? I often pray to the Lord with tears. Though my family is going through severe trials, I still believe the Lord is always with us."

(Sister Yanzi)

⌘ May God comfort Sister Yanzi and her daughter, granting them strength, and help amidst depression and emotional instability. Pray that Sister Yanzi experiences the Lord's presence in the midst of trials.

Gospel Broadcasting

1 Online Platforms: In recent years, Radio Liangyou's online platforms have faced severe challenges; our team feels like they are fighting on a battlefield every day. Beyond frequent website login issues, our systems have suffered repeated hacker attacks over past months. Even as information access was restricted, our listeners spontaneously disseminated messages across various media, for which we are grateful for this "outreach dispersion."

2 Mentorship Program: Pray for the launch of the Lay Training III Mentorship Program. Registered students will engage in deep study across three stages under teacher guidance, gaining a solid grasp and practical application in writing testimonies, preparing sermons, and planning ministry projects.

You will keep in perfect peace those whose minds are steadfast, because they trust in you.

(Isaiah 26:3, NIV)

PRAYER NEWSLETTER

Nov/Dec 2026

Dear Warriors in Christ,

Recently, I often hear people say that life is full of helplessness, and people feel completely powerless. Many things are beyond our control and unpredictable that life feels so helpless. Some people migrate with joy and high hopes for a stable, worry-free life, only to encounter unforeseen accidents or unexpected illnesses, ending in a bitter sigh! Similarly, when we put our hearts into producing quality programs and writing courses in hopes of helping others, the broader environment unexpectedly blocks access to our website, forcing us to find alternative solutions.

The "helplessness" of life is indeed difficult to avoid, but we can choose how we respond to it. In times of struggle, we might ask: God, where are You? Yet while asking, have we ever considered: could it be that God does not stop these things from happening because He wants to stay by our side and share our burden? Or perhaps God wants to use these helpless situations so that we may see Him in the process?

Whatever the answer may be, never forget the encouragement in 1 Peter to believers enduring suffering—the Lord's Gospel, namely His death, resurrection, and the promise of His return, is our hope. Because of this hope, we have the strength to face life's helplessness. When our faith passes the test, we will receive reward when Jesus Christ is revealed: "In all this you greatly rejoice, though now for a little while you may have had to suffer grief in all kinds of trials. These have come so that the proven genuineness of your faith—of greater worth than gold, which perishes even though refined by fire—may result in praise, glory and honor when Jesus Christ is revealed." (1 Peter 1:6-7)

Have you held fast to this hope from above? Has it become your strength in facing life's helplessness?

A Loving Couple

"I came to believe in God following my mother from a young age, but my faith was very weak. After getting married, I didn't know how to nurture our marriage. My husband and I didn't have much to talk about. Then I happened to listen to Radio Liangyou, and I got a more in-depth understanding of the Bible. My husband and I found common ground for conversation, and our relationship became more loving. This far exceeded my hopes and expectations. My entire family believes in God. This is truly the immense grace from God who has transformed me through Radio Liangyou. May God bless Radio Liangyou so that it may continue to spread the Gospel through daily broadcasts across the globe."

(Sister Yao)

⌘ May God strengthen Sister Yao's faith refreshing her mind and spirit as she dives into the Scripture. May God grant her and her husband the grace to communicate with love.

Live Customer Service

The "Customer Contact Service: Requirements for Collaboration between Live and Intelligent Customer Services" has taken effect on 1 September. This national standard explicitly requires smart and clear collaboration between human and machine agents where users should not be asked repeated question. Businesses are required to bear primary responsibility for AI responses. Of the 20 mainstream platforms tested by our reporters, only a few has added a "human customer service" icon to their interface. There are marked differences among platforms: some platforms require users to type "transfer to a human" once to be automatically transferred, whilst some require repeated input before transferring to online customer service.

("Liberation Daily", October 12, 2026)

⌘ May the authorities actively encourage businesses to adhere to this non-binding standard. May the business people will not fob customers off with AI-powered customer service, but return the human element to customer service.

The Peace of God

"I have been constantly plagued by a sense of fear for no apparent reason for many years. Restless sleep and nightmares deprived me of true peace. I happened to overhear my colleagues talking about Jesus and saying it was wonderful to become His followers. I asked them whether believing in Jesus could help me sleep. They said Jesus could give people true peace. I began to explore the Gospel and started attending church on Sundays. I didn't know how to pray and therefore read the Bible instead. I can't quite recall how long it has taken, but there are no more nightmares and I have peace in my heart. Thank Jesus for transforming me. His grace is truly beyond words."

(Sister Liu)

⌘ May God guard Sister Liu's heart and mind, enabling her to experience His peace. May she draw closer to God through prayer and Scripture, so that she may sleep peacefully at night and have hope by day.

Pay for Internship

Enterprises, in generally, require job seekers to have relevant work experience gained through internship. However, students without work experience have no means of securing internship opportunities at major corporations. Higher education career guidance mostly suffers from a disconnection between academic theory and practical profession matching. Struggling to enter the job market, some young job seekers have reluctantly paid a great sum to earn an internship certificate by performing hands-on work without learning any professional skills. Eliminating the grey market of "pay for internship" requires a concerted effort from all parties to contribute to returning internships to their core educational purpose.

("Workers' Daily", October 13, 2026)

⌘ May God will improve the employment situation, making it easier for graduates to find jobs. May schools, businesses and the authorities work closely together to offer opportunities to students that uplift them to find their direction.

Tuesday

Equipped to Serve

"I grew up in an atheistic environment in the 1980s, having never been exposed to the Gospel of Christ. Hearing by chance about Jesus Christ being sinless and saving sinners, I was illuminated by the Holy Spirit. After becoming a believer, I thirsted for the word of God and strove to seek Him earnestly. I started to serve God after some time. Encouraging brothers and sisters to enroll in Liangyou Theological Seminary, I also took their courses myself and came to realize that willingness to learn was a gift of divine grace. Every assignment marked by teachers warmed my heart and boosted my motivation. I will dedicate myself to spiritual training that equips me to serve God with greater purpose."

(Brother Yu)

⌘ May God guide Brother Yu to become more deeply rooted in His Word and in ministry. May God bless him with willingness to learn and steadfastness to enjoy encouragement from teachers' marking.

Covert Safety Inspection

Earlier, the Central Work Safety Assessment and Covert Inspection Team carried out covert inspections at enterprises in Xiamen, Zhangzhou and Quanzhou. The inspections conducted in Quanzhou revealed the initial positive effect of enterprises' efforts to remedy major accident hazards. Some enterprises still fell short of requirements. In Xiamen and Zhangzhou, production safety hazards were relatively severe. Some industrial parks had long been operating without a fire prevention system. Other parks lacked flammable gas alarm systems, and non-explosion-proof electrical equipment was installed at gas leak ventilation outlets. Some parks will rectify the issues promptly, whilst enterprises facing greater difficulties in rectification have opted to relocate.

("China National Radio", October 12, 2026)

⌘ Thank God that the authorities have been able to step up inspections of industrial parks through various means. May God will open the eyes and hearts of employers to prioritize workplace safety to properly safeguard their employees.

Wednesday

Miraculous Awakening

"Years of hard work and chronic stress made me a three-high patient in my forties. My relationship with God was lukewarm, and I rarely prayed. Early this year, I suffered a sudden stroke and was admitted to ICU. I did not wake up after days of treatment. One morning, the doctor diagnosed that I had no sign of life. My family and the church were making arrangements for my funeral. However, I miraculously regained vital signs after a few hours, recovered rapidly within days. Brothers and sisters came to visit me. We prayed together and they thanked God for me. I have experienced God's majestic grace. His grace exceeds my sin. I will be fervent in God and bear witness to encourage more people."

(Brother Wu)

⌘ May God bless Brother Wu with sustained recovery, enable him to manage his three-highs through medication. May God turn his lukewarm heart toward wholehearted devotion to Him.

Vulgar Advertisements

The State Administration for Market Regulation has publicly released seven cases involving unlawful advertisements that cover a range of issues including the objectification of women, vulgar and borderline content in live streams, and AI-generated content damaging professional images. Some enterprises accept brand damage for short-term digital traffic maximization. This is the main reason for the persistence of vulgar advertising despite repeated bans. Experts believe that if an advertisement is deemed vulgar and found to contravene good social morals, constitute gender discrimination or harm the physical and mental health of minors, the regulatory authorities should apply heavy penalties, rather than merely repeating the cycle of "apologies, withdrawal of content and fines".

("China News Service", October 14, 2026)

⌘ May God change the people's mindset and refrain from using tactics like belittling others or exploiting sexual content. May the departments concerned impose heavier penalties for vulgar advertising.
